

Welcome to the new threshold. This day I step forward as Faith. I wish to introduce myself to you, for I am much more than a word, much more than a mental construct. I am Lord Michael's Feminine Complement, and it is time for you, Beloved, to embody the energy I offer. What does this mean to you Beloved? Speak your heart not your mind. What does your life become when you embody faith?

Q: Am I on my path?
How am I doing?
Where do I need more fine-tuning?

A: We know your heart and your thoughts. We always respond to your prayers. It is a matter of raising your frequency to better hear us. And so Beloved, I am the answer you seek: I am faith. And we do wish for you to pause and contemplate our question. Faith melts away fear like ice on a hot summer day. Proceed with your answer and genuinely open to us as you ponder what your life is with the embodiment of my energy.

Q: Can you tell me about my son's Racing Career?

A: The feeling of the brush of our wings is real, Beloved, more real than any earthly circumstance. To embody faith is to bring forth that which exists within you as your birthright. You are divinely human: never forget this.

And as we turn to your question, we remind you that your children are divinely human as well and so our advice does not differ. All that is not joy is denial and sometimes a discouraging circumstance is designed by the Soul to lead one beyond comfort to greater Truth. But you already know this, yes Beloved? And that is why we ask you to teach.

Q: Where do you see me in the next 5 years?

A: What do you choose? Ha ha ha! You are the author my Beloved. We come only to remind you of that which you have temporarily forgotten upon your entry into the earthly dimension and a human body, and what better way to keep the Flame burning in your own heart than to share it? Teaching and learning are one, not two. Your Divine birthright is shared with all humanity. Discover, or shall we say remember, these Divine qualities and you become a beacon that can be seen and felt for miles around. In five years, if you heed our message, we see you as more of your Magnificent Self. Is there really anything else to be other than an expanded version of your Self? Ha ha ha! And this is your core teaching Beloved.

Q: I have to teach in Corporate America soon. Is it teachable?

A: Do not despair Dear Heart. You are treading the path of Truth. There will be those who respond to your beacon of light. Do not let the small mind, which is steeped in separation, hold you back from your true calling. Separation and fear breed resistance. This is why we appear to you now offering courage and faith. You must go forward knowing the truth of your eternal nature. Yes, there will be moments of forgetting, but you will rise strong in your own giftedness. The challenge may be great but the rewards will be greater still. You are never forsaken Beloveds. Shine Brightly, as the Creator will have it no other way.
